New site sought for Bethel Post Office

By ALISON ALOISIO

The U.S. Postal Service may be selecting a site within six months on which to build a new post office for Bethel, but there is no guarantee it will be on Main Street.

The opening of a new office would likely coincide with the closing of the West Bethel Post Office, probably in about two years.

Post Office Chief Coordinator Richard Harty said Monday that a proposal to build a new Bethel office had been approved by the Postal Service. A second office in West Bethel is also being considered.

'It's an operational decision. The building is overcrowded and we need space.'

New ambulance barn footings will probably have to be torn out

Soils report reveals they rest on frost

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Plans for a new ambulance barn at the Bethel Station property for a site swap this week, when a soils scientist's report revealed that the footings for the new ambulance barn foundation were not on frost.

Developer Hamie Merrill said he has not yet received the full report.

But it is more than likely the present footings will have to be taken out and repoured.

If that is the case, it will probably be at least April before the full foundation can be poured and made ready for the ambulance barn to be built.

The first question was raised by selectman Bob Chadbourne.

"It's just not good practice to build on frost -- when the frost goes out there be settling in the building," Chadbourne said.

Town Meetings begin:

Andover budget down 25+ percent

By ALISON ALOISIO

Selectmen are recommending a municipal appropriation of $340,000 for 1995, down significantly from last year's figure of $466,253. However, the mill rate is expected to rise by about 3 mills from 1994's 13.3, due to the loss of valuation from MCI Telecommunications Corporation.

Last year's figure was larger due in part to $50,000 appropriated for possible use in a tax settlement with MCI.

Other areas which will receive decreased or no funding this year under budget committee and selectmen recommendations are road and bridge construction and paving, dump closing, town building maintenance, sidewalk renewal, social service organizations, library support and renovation, cemetery renovation, and winter road maintenance.

Selectmen and the budget committee differed somewhat in the amounts they recommended on nine of the 38 warrant articles.

The two groups concurred in voting against any raises for town employees.

Voters will also be asked Saturday if the town should study the

Newry asked to OK new fire truck

By ALISON ALOISIO

The Newry Fire Department will ask voters at Monday night's Town Meeting for a new fire truck and a roof to put over it.

A municipal budget proposal, virtually unchanged from last year ($354,497 versus $354,704 in '94), will include a request to buy a new pumper truck and to set up a reserve account to replace or renovate the Bear River fire station.

The warrant article for the truck asks that selectmen be authorized to use money from the Fire Department capital equipment account, which currently has a balance of $43,163.47. Another article would add $10,000 to that figure, in what has become an annual appropriation to build up the fund.

Fire Chief Tink Conkright said this year marks the first point in a schedule set up by the town to look at truck replacement every five years.

He said if voters approve the purchase of a used truck it would replace one or both of the 1956 and 1967 trucks currently owned by the town. Conkright said a used truck would cost from $35,000-$45,000.

In a related article, selectmen are proposing to start a reserve account

W. Paris addition back on warrant

By DUANE HAYES

To build or not to build a 40 by 40 foot addition on the municipal offices and town garage complex on Kingsbury Street will be the major issue facing the voters when they assemble at the Agnes Gray Elementary School gymnasium on Tuesday, March 7, at 7 p.m. for the annual Town Meeting.

It is not the first time this issue has been brought before the voters -- it first surfaced at the 1994 town meeting, where it was defeated by a large margin due to the lack of information on what plan would be used and what the total costs would be.

Voters did at that time, however, approve the establishment of a study committee to put together the figures they wanted presented this year for reconsideration.

According to Selectman Wade Rainey, who also served as the selectmen's representative on the study committee, there now is a complete plan ready to be presented, the method of paying for the addition has been studied and readied for presentation, and both the board and the town's budget committee have agreed that the cost will not exceed $80,000.

Unneeded, expensive water filters being hustled nearby

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Bethel Water District customers should be skeptical of any offer from a filter companies to test their water, the Water District supervisor has cautioned.

Bob Saunders said there have been reports of a company operating in the Brewer and Windham area, attempting to sell unneeded filters at exorbitant prices.

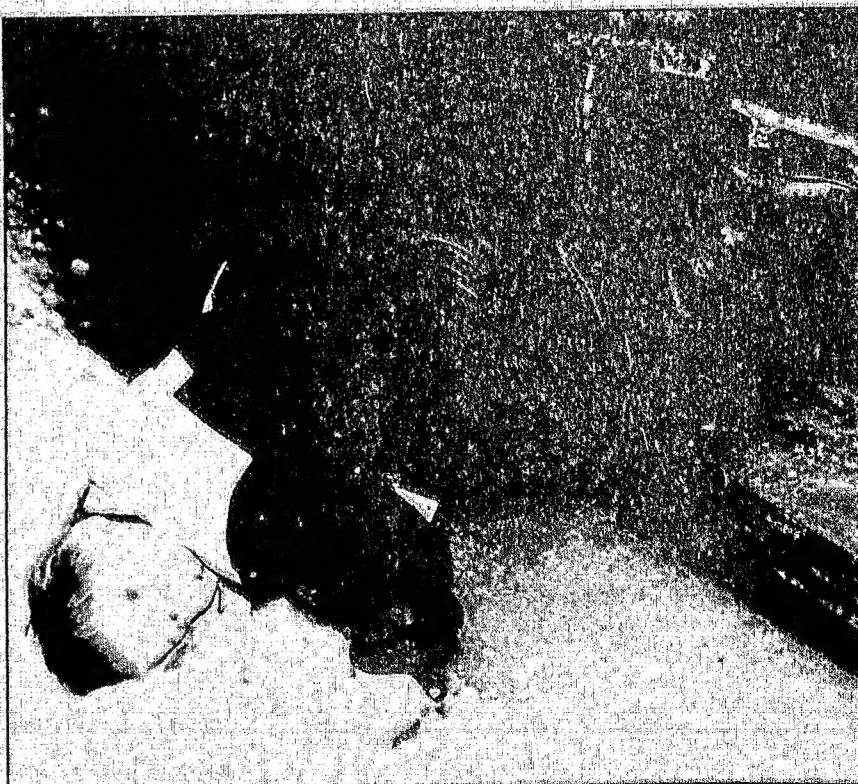

In one case, an elderly woman living alone allowed her water to be tested and was told that it contained unsafe levels of calcium -- a chemical that is "not hazardous at any plausible level," Saunders said.

Aside from some rust problems in West Bethel, Saunders said, there have been no instances in which Bethel water (which is constantly tested) would require filtering.

If people object to the water's residual chlorine taste, any local plumber can install an inexpensive filter to remove it, he said, or simply leaving a jug in the refrigerator overnight will remove the taste.

In any customers are approached by filter salesmen, Saunders said, they should call him or Donnie Katlin (824-2342), before agreeing to anything. Residents not on the Water District, and residents of other local towns, are also welcome to call for advice, he said.

Skier dies at Sunday River

By MICHAEL DANIELS

A 28-year-old New Hampshire man died Monday after skiing into the trees off Sunday River's Sunday Punch trail.

According to the state medical examiner, Brian Bogart of Northampton, N.H. died of massive trauma to the head and neck.

According to a prepared statement issued by the skiway, an eyewitness to the accident reported that just prior to the accident Bogart appeared to be in control and was traversing the 200-foot wide trail.

But instead of attempting to turn or stop, the witness said, Bogart continued in a straight direction off the trail and into the woods.

A visiting ski patroller from another area also witnessed the incident and began resuscitative efforts. Sunday River patrollers took over resuscitative efforts, which were continued as Bogart was brought down the mountain.

The Sunday Punch trail is rated as "more difficult," meaning that it is moderately pitched and less challenging than terrain designed for expert skiers.

Bogart was described as a someone who was "comfortable on skis" and capable of skiing the trail, according to Trooper Kyle Tiffley of the State Police barracks in Gray, who is investigating the incident.

Snow surfaces on the trail at the time were groomed packed power, according to the skiway.

Tiffley said other skiers described the trail conditions as "fine." They are not believed to have been a factor in the incident, he said.

The fatality is the first at Sunday River since the 1992-93 season, according to skiway spokesman Skip King.

Gill awaits bail ruling

PORTLAND--Charles Gill remained in federal custody as of Tuesday at the Cumberland County Jail, awaiting a ruling on whether he can be released on bail. Gill was indicted on state charges last month for unlawful practice of psychology and theft by deception of $24,411 in salary from the Bethel Area Health Center. He was released on bail on those charges last week and turned over to U.S. marshalls. A federal grand jury indicted him last month on two counts of making a false statement in application and use of a passport. A court clerk said that at a bail hearing in U.S. District Court on Monday Gill's lawyer, John Jenness, argued that he be released on an unsecured bail bond. Prosecutors argued he be detained without bail pending a trial set for March 21.

Woodstock holds the line

WOODSTOCK--Woodstock selectmen last week set the 1995 budget to be raised from taxation at $772,691.44, which is $164.37 less than 1994. They reached their goal of keeping the budget close to last year's level by trimming proposals presented by Town Manager Vern Maxfield earlier this month. After an initial budget-cutting session three weeks ago, selectmen last Tuesday reduced the tax account by $10,000, used an additional $8,000 from state revenue sharing, and used $10,000 more from the local road assistance program.

NOVA cost-sharing discussion tabled

RUMFORD--The NOVA board of directors last week tabled discussion on choosing one of two cost-sharing formulas for school districts paying to send students to the program. An ad hoc committee has been studying how to make the formula more fair to SAD's 43, 44, 21, and Peru. The current formula assesses a fee based on percentage of the district's current grade 9-12 enrollment and a percentage of the total NOVA enrollment. One formula would take 50 percent of the district's actual NOVA enrollment of the previous year plus 50 percent of the district's actual 9-12 enrollment to come up with a figure. That would give SAD 44 an assessment of $200,958, figuring by this year's budget. The district currently pays nearly $204,000 under the existing formula. The second proposed formula would yield an assessment of $202,198. The NOVA board did not vote on the proposals, because the full board was not present, although they did have a quorum. The board will take up the issue at a March 21 meeting.

Oxford County jail more secure

PARIS--Oxford County Commissioners last week approved installing razor wire on top of a section of chain-link fence surrounding the back of the Oxford County jail. The wire was donated by Hancock Lumber Co. of South Paris. Sheriff's Department Chief Deputy Jim Davis said the wire would be valuable because there are no cameras in the back of the exercise yard, which is fenced with eight-foot high chain-link topped off with coiled razor wire. Adding wire to the fence would make an escape more difficult, Davis said.

Recycling coordinator paying off

NEWRY--Selectmen said last week that recycling has increased since the appointment of recycling coordinator Leslie Thurston. A report by Solid Waste Committee Chairman Sigmund Sysko said the amount of cardboard deposited in the bin at the Sunday River and Bear River collection centers has increased from 300 pounds in early Jan. to about 1,500 pounds in Feb. Sysko said recycling is important because the prices for materials that can be sold to recycling companies are as high as they have ever been.

Managed health care for Medicaid?

AUGUSTA--Representative Brenda Birney has submitted a bill to the legislature that would designate a single physician to supervise care programs for each individual receiving Medicaid benefits, as is done to contain costs in many health insurance plans. "Using the emergency room for colds, flu and routine care does not make sense. It is expensive and unnecessary. Having a half-dozen doctors prescribing drugs without knowledge of each other is dangerous. Patients and taxpayers would be better served by having a single doctor supervising each patient's health care needs and recommending treatment. We need to have a gatekeeper," Birney said. While some opponents of managed care suggest that no doctors would take Medicaid patients because the reimbursement is lower than for privately insured patients, Birney said that perhaps the savings realized by cutting unnecessary or duplicative services might allow for a higher reimbursement for doctors. The bill is currently before the Human Resources Committee.

Ice fishing becoming more popular

AUGUSTA--According to a recently completed survey of Maine ice fishermen, the sport is becoming increasingly popular and anglers are catching more fish. The survey was done by the Maine Dept. of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife and the Dept. of Resource Economics at the University of Maine. It indicates that there has been a 20 percent increase in ice fishing on Maine lakes over the past 10 years. The survey also shows there has been a 46 percent increase in legal-size fish caught since 1983. Other survey results: pickerel led the list of fish most often caught; two-thirds of fishermen consider regulations to be strict enough; 97 percent of fishermen use live bait, but about 27 percent would approve of a ban on its use on selected waters; a majority of fishermen consider Maine game wardens to be "very professional" and 60 percent consider them to be effective at catching violators.

...but poaching is a problem

AUGUSTA--Ice-fishing attracts a high percentage of poachers, according to a report by Game Warden Daniel Tourtelotte of the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife. Wardens observed 13 different fishing parties on 12 consecutive days on Chesuncook Lake, a premier landlocked-salmon water. They handed out 19 different fishing violations in 10 of the 12 days. Nine violations involved killing more salmon than the law allows, three were for killing salmon shorter than the legal minimum, and most of the other seven were for leaving traps unattended, which gives fish a chance to swallow the bait. Tourtelotte said of the number of violations, "These figures are not that far off what we have experienced on other waters with similar fisheries."

Drunk driving deaths down

WASHINGTON--Alcohol-related traffic deaths fell to their lowest level in a dozen years last year. Transportation Secretary Federico Pena said 42 percent of the 40,200 traffic deaths in 1994 were influenced by alcohol. In 1993, Pena set a goal of reducing the proportion of alcohol-related deaths from 46 percent to 43 percent by the end of 1996. Because of the unexpected headway, Pena has announced a new goal -- reducing drunken driving deaths to 11,000 annually by 2005. "Our progress so far tells us that we can achieve this goal," he said. The number of people killed in alcohol-related crashes has been declining since 1987. Alcohol was a factor in 57 percent of all highway deaths in 1982, when the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration began keeping data. Safety organizations and automobile and insurance companies plan to work to further beef up drunk driving laws and get the "don't drink and drive" message across to alcoholics, repeat offenders, and young people.

Hen gets mouth-to-beak resuscitation

HARPSWELL--A hen who had a severe case of hypothermia and was revived with mouth-to-beak resuscitation has been renamed Valerie in recognition of her valor. Janet Bonney said she thought the bird, then known as Chicken No. 7, was dead when she found it frozen under her porch. "Legs up, just as though you had got her from the freezer at Shop 'n Save," she said. Bonney tried to put the chicken's body in a shoebox for burial, but its frozen legs wouldn't bend. So she used a hot water bottle to thaw the bird enough to fit in the makeshift casket. She spoke to it, thanking it for all the eggs it had laid. She told it that she hoped it was happy where it was now. Then, Bonney felt the first thump. She bent close and heard the first breath. Fifteen seconds later she heard another. Soon she was giving it CPR -- three or four thumps on its chest, and mouth-to-beak resuscitation. For three hours she warmed it and nursed it, until finally, the chicken stood and clucked. "She actually laid an egg last week," said Bonney, who renamed the hen Valerie. Local veterinarians said the chicken probably had a severe case of hypothermia that made its muscles rigid, its heart slow and breathing all but stop.

CAPPING THE CUPOLA--Construction work continues atop the Bethel train station and on other buildings associated with the development, but at the new ambulance barn site work has been put on hold since frost has been found under the footings. (Photo by Alison Aloisio)

The selectmen and Merrill appear to view the remaining issues as relatively minor matters of the sort inevitably encountered at the closing of complex deals. But the developer is now warning that failure to tie things up soon could jeopardize progress during the next construction season -- especially work on the new parkway.

Merrill said the Bethel Station investors want to close on the town parcel before exercising their options on the other properties they have lined up for the project.

Only after those other options are exercised will the developers be able to deed to MDOT the right-of-way it requires to put the parkway project out to bid.

"It really makes a great deal of difference to us to get to bid on the parkway if we're going to get started on it this summer," Merrill said.

He is expected to meet with the selectmen at their regular meeting next week, where the two sides will again attempt to wrap up the final details and set a closing date.

middle of a historical area, for example," Doody said.

Brian Strickland, who leases the building to the post office, said to his knowledge the office is staying where it is.

"I'm negotiating a long-term lease with the post office people I usually deal with. The present lease is up in August," he said.

Strickland added he is aware of the Postal Service's concern about eventually moving the facility, in part to better accommodate the needs of West Bethel patrons.

Strickland has owned the building since 1982, and he said the post office has been located there since the early 1940's. Before that it was located on upper Main Street.

West Bethel

Doody said it appears likely that a proposal to close the West Bethel

Post Office will be made and posted at that site in the next two weeks. He met with residents to discuss the potential proposal in December.

The Postal Service is currently answering letters from customers on the issue, and reviewing questionnaires which were sent out recently.

Doody said concerns from residents include vandalism of rural boxes put up to replace boxes now in the office, difficulty of getting to rural boxes in the winter, later mail delivery, and distance to the Bethel Post Office.

Similar worries were voiced at the December meeting but, he said, such reasons would probably not prevent a recommendation to close.

Residents would have another 60 days from the posting of the proposal to comment before it would be sent to Washington, D.C., for final approval.

MAINE HANDICAPPED SKIING, CROSS-COUNTRY STYLE—The nation's largest gathering of disabled cross-country skiers was held at Sunday River Inn and Cross-Country Ski Center on Feb. 21. Students from Maine Handicapped Skiing (MHS) and others from as far away as Bangor came to learn and play on adaptive ski equipment. Guided by MHS volunteers and ski center staff and friends, the students used sit-skis, kick sleds, walkers, outriggers, and other aids to ski the groomed trails and the center's practice hill, "Wight Heat." The event was designed to offer MHS students and their families another option for being active in the winter. Ski center owners Steve and Peggy Wight and the MHS Board plan to investigate ways of making cross-country skiing a continuous offering in years to come. Anyone interested in learning more about being a program student or volunteering can call Steve Wight at 824-2410. Andover

by Karen McKay

The annual town meeting will be held on Saturday, March 4, at 9 a.m. at the town hall.

The Snow Valley Sno-Goers are holding a meeting on Saturday, March 4, at 7 p.m. at the fire station. The group is planning to hold a public supper on March 18 at the CEB. Corned beef is on the menu.

Get well wishes to Ralph Stinson, a patient at Maine Medical Center in Portland. Patients deserving get well wishes at Rumford Community Hospital include Agnes Porter, Holman Farrar and Wilbur Chenery.

Rumor has it that a flock of robins has been visiting the Barbara Simmons residence in North Andover, did they bring spring along with them?

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Simmons of Darnley, Prince Edward Island, Canada have been visiting with area relatives while staying with Mrs. Grace Simmons for a few days.

Bryant Pond

by Alice Hoyt

Franklin Grange 124 met on Monday, Feb. 20, with 36 members present. A 6:30 potluck supper was held before the meeting. Deputies Myrtle and Lewis Bisbee were present for instruction. They were given a warm welcome. Guests were present from Oxford, Mt. Sugarloaf, Mystic Valley, West

Paris and Starr King, N.H., Granges. Mr. Bisbee spoke briefly and presented Franklin Grange with a certificate of achievement for new members. A Pineapple Coffee Cake Contest will be held next meeting. Each one is to be made by the recipe given. Sick members were reported on. Several things were discussed in length. There was a report on the wiring. The lights were much brighter. Two members were reinstated. There was a short program because of the long meeting. Homemade valentines were judged as follows: most romantic, Dot Brooks; funniest, Russell Yates; prettiest, Laura Hutchins. Each one received a cookie from the Lecturer. David Murphy, Myrtle Bisbee, Lewis Bisbee, Roberta Ramey, and several others spoke briefly. Next meeting will be March 20.

Guests at the Ken Hoyts' over the weekend were Bob and Gwenn Hoyt. Maggie and Joseph Hoyt visited their dad, James Hoyt, over the weekend. Laurette Sanborn visited Saturday.

Evelyn T. Bean was called to North Yarmouth on Saturday by the sudden death of Harriet G. Thurston, beloved wife of Donald P. Thurston.

Ray and Shawn Crockett visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoyt, on Wednesday.

The Jim Duffy family of Massachusetts have been spending some of their vacation at their home in Bryant Pond.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens will meet on March 2 at the Woodstock Conference Room. There will be a potluck dinner and the program will feature Linda Haycock from Community Concepts. Please bring a dish to share and your own place setting. The meeting will start at 11:30 a.m., with the program after the meal.

The Woodstock Historical Society has many antiques, and books about them in its museum. Curator Larry Billings has given an oil painting of some rugged mountains. The museum has a fine collection of tins. Many museums neglect these interesting exhibits. Mr. Billings said that while he has been promoting the society's cultural offerings recently, he certainly does not mean to neglect its dedication to local history -- but many small towns the local historical society has valuable cultural exhibits as well.

West Paris

by Miriam Iman

The Lamb home was a busy place last weekend. Dr. Allen Lamb from Santa Fe, New Mexico, arrived on Friday for the weekend. Wendy Lamb and Dr. Willis Hayes from Portland stayed the weekend, also. Then on Sunday, Peggy Lamb and John Beane from Palermo and Jude Lamb from Bethel joined the family gathering.

The annual "hot dog cook-in" was held on Sunday at the home of Max and Marian Pulsifer, at Hicks Pond in Greenwood. The day was beautiful, so there was much activity with snowmobile rides. Those from here in West Paris were: their son and his wife, Melvin and Jo Pulsifer; Vance and Connie Bacon, Ken Bacon and friend Terri Littlehale; Joe and Per Perham; Gregg and Dixie Iman and Abby; Lindsey Newell; Walter, Kim Iman, Venice and Walter; Vernon and Nuriam Iman; Tony Bonchard. Hope I haven't left anyone out.

Todd and Tara Bonchard and Todd II from Bethel spent the weekend with Walter and Kim Iman.

Vicky Sanborn, Brant and Caroline spent the weekend with her parents, Vernon and Miriam. Bill and Ginny Aridas also spent the weekend and returned to Holbrook, N.Y., on Monday.

Vince and Beverly Stevens spent the past weekend in Glastonbury, Conn., visiting Vince's sister, Narvie Stevens.

The West Paris Historical Society met on Monday evening with a real good attendance. The oyster stew went over really well it seemed, and another batch had to be made in a hurry to accommodate the larger turnout. After the supper we were entertained by Peter Lenz, a historian from Norway. It was a very interesting video of some familiar personalities.

Lena Dean is spending this weekend in Fryeburg visiting her brother, Al Hill.

East Bethel

by Nancy Mercer

Rudi Honkala was in Durham, N.H. on Feb. 21 to attend a meeting of the U.N.H. 50th Reunion Committee. While there he visited a former roommate he had not seen for 50 years.

Barbara Honkala's aunt Evelyn Tamminen has suffered a stroke. She is in the hospital now, but is expected to recover with a lot of hard work.

Erk and Karen Wight have been enjoying watching three adult bald eagles from their front windows over the creek and intervals. Karen hates to leave her work.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

On Saturday, Feb. 18, six members of the East Stoneham Church met at the home of Kate Flynn to discuss the Stewardship Drive which was done the past months. Hopefully there will be more results in the future.

On Tuesday, Feb. 21, there was a hearing on the Town's current subdivision ordinance, and on Feb. 22 there was an informational meeting on the phosphorous runoff and the affect it would have on water quality. It all boils down that each lot to be sold must conform to the State of Maine's rules and regulations.

On Wednesday, Feb. 22, the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War 1861-1865 Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19 met at the church vestry with nine members present. Tent President Leslie Dean opened the meeting at 7 p.m. Secretary and treasurer's reports were read and accepted. Eleanor Smith won the mystery package. Amy Shibles and Joyce Gouin will be on the refreshments at the next meeting, which will be at the home of Joyce Gouin.

Stoneham residents are happy to find that the county commissioners have rescinded last month's decision to switch to Pace Ambulance Service. The Stoneham Rescue and Bethel Rescue will continue their services as usual.

Genessa Tripp has had two red candles at her back porch a lot, and I have been told that she feels them throughout. They are real pretty and fun to watch.

Aisha and Jaffer Traish of Belmont, Mass., have been spending their school vacation with their cousins, Molly and Matthew Nelson. They've had fun skating, sliding, snowmobiling, and skiing. In fact, I had fun today watching them ski at Mt. Abram in Locke Mills. It sure looks like fun.

Another thing of interest was an old Stoneham Town Report that my sister showed me which was dated 1926-1927. Everything was sure different then, with the roads being rolled by a roller instead of being plowed.

Elderwood Manor

by Florence Hall

Callers at Florence Hall's recently were niece Stacy Thompson of Rumford, Mary

Bailey of South Andover, and Dorothy Lang of Andover.

Gertrude Hutchins and Florence went on the bus on Wednesday.

Nephew Edward Hall took Aunt Florence to Rumford on Friday for a doctor's appointment.

Gertrude and Florence went shopping on Sunday afternoon with Letrice Myshrahl.

Florence received news from Nova Scotia of the death of a cousin, Tena MacDonald.

Dorothy Lang had tea and snacks with Florence one afternoon.

by Colista Morgan

There is so much written about schools and education at this time that I thought about my teaching years. Another reason that inspired me to write this is because of a letter I recently received from a boy who sat in my school room many years ago. Another reason was also because of a gift of an afghan given to me by a girl who was also my pupil. She said, "I made this for you because I always have remembered the necklace you gave me when I was in school. I thought that it was the prettiest thing I had ever seen." Perhaps it was, for she had little of those things in her life. I am sure it wasn't a valuable gift.

Yes, I was a teacher but there were times when I felt I would like to be a nurse and wear a trim uniform or have the salary of a defense worker or maybe work in an office.

However, when I'd think it through, I knew that most of my compensation did not come from the pay envelope. These are some of the things that paid most:

I am glad that I was a teacher because I was respected. By virtue of my position, I was looked upon as a leader in my community. I found that members of my profession were usually classified as I-A.

It was fun to be a teacher because nowhere else could I have had an opportunity to be the idol and ideal of 10 or more pairs of eyes. No queen could ever rule more supremely and happily than I. Some thought of me as a walking encyclopedia. I know that to some poor and misunderstood children, I was a bright spot in their life. They have remembered over the years that have passed and some have told me, which have made my retired year happier.

Each day brought new and perplexing problems to be solved, which demanded all the tact and patience I possessed. My work was never monotonous. Thus, teaching was fascinating because no day was every the same. To be sure, there were times when one felt it necessary to count to 10 before saying anything. And there were other times when an amusing incident made it difficult to keep a straight face.

When I saw my pupils growing and improving day by day, I had a feeling of accomplishment not found in any other work. I could see the results of my efforts and at least the partial accomplishment of my ambitions. It was my exclusive privilege to be proud when Jimmy learned to read or Johnny learned to write his name well, because I, of all people on earth, had taught him those things.

I had one of the most precious privileges in the world. I helped to mold and shape the lives and destinies of the children who were entrusted to me the greater part of the day. In my room of 20 to 30 pupils I thought there might be another Longfellow or another Lincoln. (Today, I can think of many who have done outstanding work.)

When I taught I had the opportunity to use my originality and initiative, which might have remained dormant in other work. I was not obliged always to follow a set pattern in teaching. I could use my own mind to invent ways and means of teaching math. I could use my imagination and make our school room bright and cheery.

When the school year was over and I had worked hard, I had a feeling of satisfaction and accomplishment. Then, too, every year I knew that I had an opportunity to progress as I taught my children. I learned as much from my pupils in one year as I taught them. Since we never remain stationary, but either go forward or backward, I knew I had a chance always to go forward in my profession. I could augment my life not only by book learning and knowledge, but also by human understanding, sympathy, and tolerance.

I am glad I was a teacher, because of some of the practical advantages I enjoyed. I had a two-months vacation every summer. During those months I could travel, do another kind of work, or pursue my hobbies. I could spend time at summer school.

Finally, I am glad I was a teacher because I have now a wealth of happy, comforting and inspiring memories of those children.

I may even be justified in feeling that perhaps the world is just a little better because "I taught school."

The outstanding event of this week was the annual gathering of relatives and friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Pulsifer. It was a big gathering. Some rode or raced their snowmobiles on the pond and in the turn fields. Some skied or ice fished and all had plenty to eat. It was a great day and a great deal of fun with 60 or more present.

Dale and Marcia Mills of North Haven came to Shapleigh to pick up their granddaughter, then came to see me on Sunday. They returned to Rockland to take the ferry to North Haven in the afternoon.

The son of Dorothy Betts and his wife came to visit his mother over the weekend. Leland Betts also visited.

I have been for a walk on each good day this last week. Today, I took the longest, just one-fourth of a mile, the best for me since November.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Inman entertained their granddaughter over the weekend and Presidents' Day. They went on snowmobiles to their camp in Albany. They also went up Noyes Mountain in the evening. They enjoyed a cookout under the stars and much more.

Jeanne Abbott and Seth of West Sumner, Bruce and Nelda Buck of Lewiston;

Nathan and James Williford of Oakland spent part of vacation week in town visiting the Brown and Bernier families.

Robins were sighted in Upton on Feb. 21.

Pat Lewit went for an operation on her ankle this week. The need for the operation stemmed from a bad fall she suffered last year.

Amy and Matthew Geiling attended the puppet show at the Summit Hotel, Sunday River Ski Resort. Wanda Lavalley has begun work at the Balsams Hotel in Dixville, N.H.

Ah! the robins are here... Can spring not be far behind? A neighbor, the Bachelders, saw a bunch of them in their yard last week. The robin's reputation as a messenger is to announce the approach of spring, and above all its fondness for human society. So why shouldn't it be the best known bird in America? The only rival of the robin is the bluebird, whose plumage is just as beautiful, and the music delightful. Many people believe that robins locate earthworms in the ground by hearing them; not so. The fact is that they find their food by the sense of sight, their cocking heads are merely to aid in seeing. They do not have bifocal vision and can see best when a single eye is pointed directly at the spot. Incidentally, the eyesight of birds is superior to that of human beings. By the way, Sylvia Harrington says she has been feeding all kinds of birds the past six weeks: cardinals, goldfinches, mourning doves and blue jays, to name a few.

Sylvia and Bill Wight, M.S.A. director/alters of the Windy Valleys Sno-Mobile Club were at the Bangor Elks Lodge on Feb. 21 for the Directors' Meeting, which followed after a social hour and a buffet dinner. They will make their report at the Windy Valleys Sno-Mobile Club meeting on March 7, 7 p.m. at the Town Building.

Karlene Bachelder celebrated her 67th birthday with her husband Ras and two of her friends, Betsy Clark and Gil Seeley, Friday. A luncheon, cake and ice cream were enjoyed. She received many gifts and cards from relatives and friends from everywhere wishing her the best.

Seven members of the "Newry Bowling Gang" were at the Oxford Lanes, Rumford, doing some fun bowling: Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Sylvia Wight, Bea Lowell, Olive Anderson and Jane, Rena Powers and Jim Anderson were guests. On the overall scores, Karlene was high on both the singles and triples, beating Betsy by four pins and Gil by five pins. Of the "Righties," Jane was high on the singles, beating Bea by two pins, but Bea was high on the triples. Gil had three spares, Karlene had one spare, Sylvia had one strike and Bea had one spare. All went to lunch and did some shopping.

Dave and Judy Brown are spending a week in Florida, and her sister Sherry Poland is going on a trip to Hawaii soon. How lucky can you get! I hope they both have a nice and warm time.

I had to go to a Dr. Nursipur in Lewiston the other day. I was quite nervous, and who should I have for a nurse but the former Bethany Andrews from Bryant Pond. She recognized me right away, which surprised me, and made me feel at ease. I didn't get her married name, but she said she now lives in Otis-field. She said her mother and father, Stanley and Gertrude Andrews, are having a good winter in Florida. Last year they had a lot of sickness.

March birthdays: Joyce Hathaway, Jessie Hart, Patty Poland, Marcia Morse and Derek Leonard. Hope you all have an early spring to enjoy the birthdays. Happy Birthday to you all. Also, my nephew Nathan Critser, who lives in California will be two years old on March 9.

Larry Billings, curator, Woodstock Historical Society, reports that at the February meeting Robert Billings volunteered to do some fund raising for the society. Alice Hoyt brought a flag so the members could have a salute at the meeting. Basil Sequin spoke on psychic phenomena. Mr. Billings has given the society an oil painting and what looks like a European mountain scene. The society has a large collection of interesting finds. You can see many antiques at the museum next summer.

When I was doing my weekly grocery shopping last week, I saw Virginia Mason and stopped for a short chat. She has been laid up with a broken ankle since last August. She is having therapy three times a week. It was a bad break and has given her a lot of trouble. I hope she will be seeing more improvement soon.

As I write this, June Demarest is still in Maine Medical Center in Portland. They are in hopes she will come home this week.

Quote of the Week: "I've learned that arguing with some people is like trying to blow out a light bulb."

I failed to get in a column last week, but there's certainly enough news in this one to make up for it! Linda Tyler stopped at Lee and Emma's on Saturday, along with Mary, Kyle and Bryan. Bryan sure is growing fast! Kyle wanted to be sure that I put him in the paper, but he wouldn't speak to me that day. Mary says he's going through a shy phase. After visiting for awhile, Linda took Lee and Emma for a ride to Norway. Lee is continuing to get stronger as time passes.

Here's some basketball news, courtesy of the Millers. Several kids from the North Woodstock area took part in the final games of the season for the Woodstock Elementary School. The games took place on Feb. 18; at Crescent Park, the Woodstock second-grade players scored three separate wins. Over at Woodstock School, the WES third-grade team played a great game against Andover's fourth grade. After eight periods of play, Woodstock scored a 40-32 victory. Thanks to Charlie Reiss and Ed Howe, who served as volunteer coaches, and to Mr. Francis for his time and energy.

On Friday, I went to Pizza Hut with my friends Angie and Laura. On Saturday, I went to Sarah Stowell's house in West Bethel, where we were joined by Laura Seames and Becky Chandler. The four of us went out to eat at the Cross Street Cafe, where we saw our friend Lisa "Tiny" Haines, who is a hostess there. Afterwards, we all went to the Winter Carnival Dance at Telstar; sadly, Tiny's job prevented her from coming!

Louise Chapman spent the first half of her February vacation in California, where she was joined by daughter Alison. The two of them enjoyed a nice visit with Sarah, who is stationed in California.

Aside from the fact that I got my hair cut, that's it from North Woodstock this week!

By the time this comes out in print it will be March 1, but we doubtless have much winter to look forward to. Norma and David Salway were in Shelburne and North Conway, N.H. Saturday. In the afternoon, Mrs. Sylvia Swan and family of Auburn came up and stayed overnight. Mrs. Cindy Campbell visited here in the evening.

Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Mary Ellen Connolly of Little Silver, N.J., visited here and Mrs. Dottie Adams of Hanover was a supper guest. Norma and David had gone to Naples to meet Kassi and bring Kaity here for overnight.

Monday, Norma took Kaity back to meet her mother and return home to Portland.

Dottie Adams came up Monday afternoon and took me home with her for the night. Tuesday, she took me to Rumford for my blood test, a little shopping and a visit to the Children's Museum. What a fun place for the youngsters. Then she

High Street

West Paris by Russell Yates
Howdy, folks.
It's a nice morning here on High Street.

I'd like to report that sister Peggy is doing better all the time, and a week ago this morning she made a batch of her good yeast bread and also made a batch of delicious ginger snap cookies.

Also on this day, we learned of the death of Eva DesRoches. Eva and her family used to live in Bethel and were very good friends. Due to a bad automobile accident, Eva had spent many, many years of her life in a nursing home. Sister Peggy and I join others in extending sympathy to her family.

Our company on Thursday were Evelyn Johnson and Helen Chase from Locke Mills. Peggy had invited them to come for dinner and to play 63 in the afternoon. Evelyn and I played against Helen and Peggy, and what a team we were. We won four games out of five. Anyway, we all enjoyed the afternoon. Evelyn was anxious to finish the last game so that she could get headed for home. She had been invited to accompany Vera Cross to an oyster stew supper, and she seemed to be afraid that she might miss out on her supper. Some folks have all the luck; I like oyster stew myself and it sure did sound inviting. I had to settle for crackers and skim milk.

While picking up our needed supplies at Shop 'n Save Friday morning, we came across friends Herman and Thelma Card of Norway. I decided that brother Herman was feeling quite like his old self, as he accused me of lying. Anyway, many of you good people out there are well acquainted with Honest Herman.

Friday evening, we attended the supper and Past Master's Night at Oxford Grange. There was a real good attendance to both the supper and meeting and I for one enjoyed the evening. I like to have something to do at these meetings and was delighted when I was asked to be chaplain for the evening. I used to be chaplain at one time and the prayer has always been easy to remember. Our Worlthy State Grange Master, Clyde Berry, was present and served as the secretary for the evening. Nearly all offices were filled by visitors.

Peggy and I spent Saturday making a homemade valentine to display at our Grange Meeting that night.

Peggy attended the dance at West Paris Grange Hall Saturday evening. They had a real large attendance. She stayed until around 11 p.m.

Allen Lovejoy of Oxford visited the High Street Lovejoys one day last week.

Jenny Teeple is spending some time visiting Faith Lovejoy during part of their school vacation.

Mark Dunn is spending part of his school vacation with his aunt and uncle in Durham.

Mary Lovejoy visited Bertha Benoit of West Paris on Friday afternoon. Bertha treated her to a refreshing cup of coffee that really hit the spot.

There will be a dance at West Paris Grange Hall on March 4, with music by the Richard Felt Orchestra. Come shake the winter blues - spring is fast coming.

The next Oxford Pomona Grange meeting will be at Franklin Grange on April 4. We will be conferring the Pomona Degree at the meeting.

DUCKS UNLIMITED BANQUET

A 16-foot Old Town canoe will be one of the door prizes at the annual banquet of the Western Maine Mountains Chapter of Ducks Unlimited.

The banquet will be at the Student Center of the University of Maine at Farmington, at 6 p.m. on Saturday, April 1.

Funds from items auctioned or raffled off at the banquet go toward acquiring wetlands that waterfowl need for survival, said Brad Smith, chapter chairman.

Other items already scheduled for the banquet are firearms, decoys, duck stamps and medallions, knife sets, antique shell boxes, and many fine matted and framed wildlife prints.

DU is a grassroots organization with hundreds of chapters from Canada to Mexico.

Smith said, "DU is not exclusively for hunters. Non-hunters also come to our banquets to help insure that ducks and geese remain a vital part of our outdoor world," he said.

"Many people are unaware that there's a DU chapter here in the Western Mountains' region. We're always looking for new members interested in helping save wetlands for waterfowl," he said.

To join DU's Western Maine Mountains Chapter, or for more information about the banquet, call Brad Smith at 778-4374.

KARATE TEAM--Students of the Bethel branch of Oxford Hills Martial Arts Academy have joined the academy's sport competition karate team, Dracos. Classes opened up at the Bethel Area Health Center last fall, where students trained in Shaolin Kempo Karate, in regularly scheduled classes. Members of the local classes decided to join the karate team and try out the competitive sport aspect of the martial arts. Although there is a beginner division in most all karate tournaments, team members from the Bethel area have already reached the intermediate division and are looking forward to advanced, then eventually black belt competition. Shown here are, rear row (from left) Shawn Tardif, Matt Leonard, Jacob Annis, and Fred Bartlett. Front: Marie Geiger and Stephanie Farrar. Tardif and Geiger are the team's instructors.

Mundt-Allen Post #81

By DAWN THORNTON-LUTY

Americanism with a "side" of oyster stew were on the menu for success at the February meeting of the Bethel American Legion.

Jerry Greenwell presided over the Americanism program. It is interesting to note that this is the oldest program within the Legion, dating back to 1919. Speaking on behalf of the Flag Amendment to the Constitution were: Jerry Greenwell, Carolyn Brooks, Jeri Brooks-Greenwell, Brian Stickland, Dawn Thornton-Luty and Lindley Wieden. Amending the Constitution has won the approval of 44 states thus far.

Commander Frank Gibson accepted a Citation of Distinguished Service on behalf of Post #81, from Past National Vice Commander

Vito DeFilipp. Past 2nd District Mundt-Allen Post was honored to host these distinguished guests: Past National Vice Commander Vito DeFilipp; Past 2nd District Commander John Kezel; 2nd District Americanism Commander Warren Pierce; Commander Andy Bartlett of Post 151; Department Finance Officer Ed Roach; Sergeant at Arms Harry Buswell; Post 68 Service Officer Nick Clements, and Finance Officer Dick Cross.

Next meeting will be a potluck supper on March 14 at 6:30 p.m.

Food for Thought: "What does the Flag Amendment mean to you?" Jerry Greenwell had this response: "I have mixed emotions. The 'Colors' will regain the respect that was lost during (Viet) Nam ... until (Viet) Nam, nobody ever thought of desecrating our flag!"
